CARE

A close-up photograph of a woman with brown hair, wearing a light blue surgical face mask, smiling warmly. She is in the water, and her hands are visible near a young man with bright red hair who is also smiling broadly. The background is a clear blue sky and water.

than ever before.

Made possible with a care worker's support.

We're recruiting care workers in your local area now.

If you are looking for a meaningful career, where you can support others to live fulfilling, independent lives while making connections every day – adult social care could be the move for you.

When you work in adult social care, no two days are ever the same. With lots of different roles and flexible hours to fit around your life, a career in care is a career with variety.

You don't need any qualifications to get started, you just need to bring the right values and you can then train while you work. There's lots of opportunities to progress in a career in care, as you can gain qualifications, undertake additional training or take on more responsibilities.
